

Chilled ceiling panels metal

Lindner Cube

The chilled ceiling panels provide due to the wide range of surface coatings and perforations numerous possibilities for an individual room design. This enables an optimal adjustment of the reverberation times on demand to create a pleasant acoustic atmosphere. The framework for a comfortable room climate is made by the radiation of cold.

For detailed information, see the data sheets in i.net.